

The Frogs and Toads of Maryland

Pickereel Frog
(Lithobates palustris)

Upland Chorus Frog
(Pseudacris feriarum feriarum)

New Jersey Chorus Frog
(Pseudacris feriarum kalmi)

Mountain Chorus Frog††
(Pseudacris brachyphona)

Green Treefrog
(Hyla cinerea)

Northern Leopard Frog
(Lithobates pipiens)

Wood Frog
(Lithobates sylvaticus)

Northern Spring Peeper
(Pseudacris crucifer crucifer)

Eastern Cricket Frog
(Acris crepitans crepitans)

Barking Treefrog†††
(Hyla gratiosa)

Southern Leopard Frog
(Lithobates sphenoccephalus utricularius)

American Bullfrog
(Lithobates catesbeianus)

Eastern Spadefoot
(Scaphiopus holbrookii)

Eastern Narrow-mouthed Toad†††
(Gastrophryne carolinensis)

Gray Treefrog and Cope's Gray Treefrog
(Hyla versicolor and Hyla chrysoscelis)

Carpenter Frog
(Lithobates virgatipes)

Northern Green Frog
(Lithobates clamitans melanota)

Photographs by: Mark Tegges,
Paul Kazyak, Don Forester,
John White, Keith Johnson,
Tony Prochaska, Linh Phu,
and the Nova Scotia Museum
Poster Layout by: Bryan Moody

Maryland Department of Natural Resources

Fowler's Toad
(Anaxyrus fowleri)

Eastern American Toad
(Anaxyrus americanus americanus)

† In Need of Conservation †† Threatened ††† Endangered